IMMENSE IS THE DEBT

Spain Will Owe This Country When the War Is Over...It May Run Into the Billions.—Germany's Example.

Germany's immense requisition on France in the conflict of 1870-71 set a fashion in the collection of a war indemnity by the victor nation from the vanquished which probably often will be followed in the future. Japan, in her conflict with China in 1894, followed Germany's example, and has just collected—on May 7, 1898—the last installment of the fine which she levied.

Will the United States compel Spain to foot the bill for this country's expenditures in the present war? Possibly she will in some form, though the payment may not be entirely, or even chiefly, in money.

The payment may be largely in the shape of a cession of territory. But in no case will the indemnity be anywhere near as large as that which Germany exacted of France, which was $1,000,000,000. It may not be greater than was the fine that Japan inflicted on China, which amounted to about $175,000,000.

There are at least two reasons why we will not bring against Spain such a bill of damages as Germany did against her hated enemy of a quarter of a century ago. Spain is not half as populous or a fifth as wealthy as France was in 1870-71, and the war expenditure of the United States will be very much smaller than Germany's was. This idea, of course, is based on the presumption that Spain will give up the fight some time within the next three or four months.

Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands are certain to have on our hands at the close of the war, and these cannot form any part of the indemnity which Spain may have to pay us. We have disclaimed any intention to annex Cuba in this war, but we are under no restraint whatever as regards the acquisition of any other territory which Spain had when the war began. If, moreover, the Cubans ask for annexation at the end of the war, we can gratify them without being open to the imputation of a breach of faith. These islands—Porto Rico, the Philippines, and to a certain degree—we will hold by right of conquest, and Spain cannot count them for any part of the indemnity which we may exact from her.

But Spain has other outlying territory. She has the Canary Islands and other fragments of territory in European waters; the Carolines and other islands in Asia, and some small colonies in Africa. Some of these she may be forced to give up to us as part or all of the indemnity which she may be called upon to pay. Some or all of this territory may be held as security for a money payment, as in the case mentioned of Germany and Japan, and be returned to Spain after the cash is provided.

If the territory comes to us outright in lieu of a money payment we can sell some or all to one or the other of the great nations, providing we do not want to retain it permanently, and probably we will not want to hold much of it.

Or we can exchange it with England or some other nation for territory nearer our shores, or which we may deem to be more desirable.

There are many ways in which we can legitimately make the war which Spain forced upon us pay its own bills. Unlike the case of the Civil War, the drain which the present conflict makes upon our resources can quickly be removed. This is a large question, and it will soon claim the earnest attention of the United States.—Leslie's Weekly.

Cincinnati Stock Sales.

The Cincinnati Live Stock Record, of Friday, gives the following as the best prices for that day:

Best price for cattle, $4.75.
Top price for calves, $6.25.
Top price of hogs, $4.20.
Best sheep brought $4.75.
Best lambs brought $6.30.

The above were actual sales, but it should be borne in mind that they represent the best of their class on the market that day. THE HERALD will each week give the best sales of the Friday before, which is alone worth the price of the paper. NOW is the time to subscribe.

Old papers 20 cents per hundred.

Lee City Lilacs.

Clay Rose is at Louisville this week buying goods.

Born, to the wife of Sammie Rose, on the 6th inst., a 10 pound boy.

Rev. Harry Little preached to an interested congregation here Sunday.

Allison Rose has the boss sweet potato patch that we know of. He has 3,000 hills.

M. C. Spencer of Alphoretta, Floyd county, was here on business last Saturday.

John W. Taulbee of Daysboro passed through here one day last week with a nice lot of sheep.

A. J. Dykes and Alfred Miller have purchased a saw mill of Clay Rose; consideration unknown.

Aunt Matilda Shockey had a severe attack of cholera morbus last week, from which she is slowly recovering.

John M. Rose of Hazel Green was here last week, and purchased a fine horse from R. F. Anderson for $85.

C. B. Allen, one of our most enterprising farmers, and his tenants, have planted 16 bushels of seed corn this season.

Miss Rachel Rose, who has been confined to her bed threatened with fever, we are glad to note is able to be about again.

Dr. Carroll reports the following on the sick list: D. B. Elam, Rachel Rose, infant of Mrs. Robins, Mrs. Riley Patrick and Wayne Taulbee.

R. F. Anderson, the hustling agent for the New York Life Ins. Co., made a flying trip to Morgan county last week, and reports having had good success.

Farmers say that the crops for the ensuing year are more promising in this section than they have been for several years, and all report that they are getting along nicely with their work.

Information has reached us that Geo. Taulbee, former correspondent to THE HERALD from this place, has joined the army under Dr. Stewart at Prestonsburg, and passed a satisfactory examination.

A Handsome Tribute to Miss Hord.

Miss Sally Hord, music teacher at the academy, left Saturday morning for her home at Poplar Plains. Just before the close of school her pupils presented her with a handsome pearl pen staff and gold pen as a token of their love and appreciation, which they commemoate in verse:

'Twas only a pen we gave to thee,
A tribute of affection, kind;
For all the happy hours we've seen
Are treasures dear within the mind.

The lessons you so ably taught,
To us will ever bright remain;
In coming years 'twill be a charm
Which all your scholars will retain.

When'er we play some loving strain,
The sweets of memory will appear,
And by its charm we'll see again
Those happy times when you were here.

LATE WAR NEWS!

AMERICAN SOLDIERS REPELLING A SPANISH ATTACK.

Four Americans Killed.

On Friday Admiral Sampson landed 850 marines under command of Lieut. Col. R. W. Huntington, on the shore near the mouth of the outer harbor of Guantanamo, a short distance east of Santiago. On Saturday afternoon a force of Spanish troops began a bush attack on the marines. This fight was kept up all through the night. During the fight four Americans were killed and one wounded. Among the killed was Assistant Surgeon John Blair Gibbs. Eight men who were on the outposts, including Lieutenants Shaw and Neville, are missing. The marines have been reinforced, and with confidence await the Spanish.

Great Excitement at Fort Monroe.

NEW PORT NEWS, June 11, 2 a. m.—A dispatch just received from Fort Monroe says: Intense excitement was caused at Fort Monroe last night shortly after 9 o'clock by a dispatch received from the signal station at Cape Henry, stating that a Spanish battleship, two cruisers and a torpedo boat had been caught under the searchlight of Cape Henry, steaming from a northerly direction.

Immediately there was great activity at the fort, and the big searchlight began to sweep the bay and signals were flashed to the cruiser Minneapolis, auxiliary cruiser Dixie and the dynamite cruiser Buffalo, which were anchored off Old Point. Quarters were sounded and the crews hastily prepared the ships for action.

Guns took positions at their posts, where they were ordered to remain during the night, and the ships' searchlights were kept playing on the waters. In the fort ammunition was hurried to the big guns and troops were ordered to their posts. In the camp of Maryland troops orders were given for the men to sleep in their clothes, with guns close by.

Sixteen Vessels to Transport Troops.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Out of a maze of doubt and contradiction as to the dispatch of the army of invasion to Cuba, one thing stands out clearly, namely that the government, feeling strong in its present position and plan, is moving cautiously and with deliberation, which it believes will secure success unattended with disaster.

With this main purpose in view, the army and navy are co-operating toward the dispatch of troops, some 25,000 in number, under the escort of a strong fleet of naval convoys made up of sixteen war ships, headed by the battle ship Indiana. Unattended by this strong fleet the troops might have left last Friday, when none of the strong naval convoy was ready for this service. Since then, however, reports come as to the presence of Spanish ships in the North Atlantic.

Realizing that nothing was to be gained by haste, and that the war was progressing steadily toward success, it was determined not to take one small chance of having our troop transports menaced by some scouting ship of the enemy. As a result the troop transports did not proceed to Cuba, either yesterday or the day before, as has been repeatedly asserted.

They are in readiness to go, but will not move until the naval convoy is ready to accompany them, assuring their safe conduct from Florida to the point of destination. Whether that will be today or tomorrow the War Department officials positively decline to say. There is authority for the statement that any reports purporting to give the hour or day when this formidable flotilla of invasion will start is not only unwarranted, but meets with the most vigorous official condemnation.

The administration feels the time has come when it is of the utmost importance that the precise movements of this invading fleet should not be published in this country, thus heralding it to the enemy.

The completeness with which the transport of troops has been planned is shown in the official list of transport vessels given out at the War Department today. Of this list, thirty-four large steamships, varying from 4,100 tons down to 600 tons, are at Florida ports ready to carry our troops to the point of invasion. There are some fifteen other crafts, including vessels suitable for conveying fresh water, stores, etc., and for lightering troops and stores from the ships to the beach when embarkation begins. The entire transport fleet of about fifty steamships is augmented by the fleet of naval convoys, sixteen in number, and will make a formidable marine procession, exceeding in magnitude the notable spectacle of naval review during the World's Fair year.

The American Fleet Has Control.

ON BOARD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH BOAT WANDA, OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA, June 10.—It is believed the navy will follow the landing of troops by forcing the passage of the narrow channel leading to the harbor of Santiago De Cuba, fishing up the sunken mines and compelling Admiral Cervera to make a stand. If the destruction of the Spanish fleet is successfully carried out it will end the last vestige of Spanish dominion in Eastern Cuba. The harbor of Guantanamo is completely under the control of the American fleet, and the landing of marines at that point is expected to occur simultaneously with the landing of troops at Santiago De Cuba.

Arming and Feeding the Insurgents.

ASSOCIATED PRESS BOAT WANDA, OFF SANTIAGO, June 9.—In Santiago there are now about 20,000 Spanish soldiers, chiefly infantry, but with a fair contingent of cavalry and field artillery drawn from the surrounding country. During the day there was a cavalry skirmish in the vicinity of the city, they returning at night to their barracks.

The insurgents are about 5,000 strong, and have taken a position on the mountain to the westward. Two thousand insurgents of this gathering are unarmed. Gen. Gomez is now about 15 miles inland, making his way toward the coast.

The debarkation of supplies was uninterrupted. The insurgents reported irregular engagements between their forces and the Spanish cavalry were of daily occurrence. The Cubans are hard up for both supplies and ammunition, and were overjoyed at the Suwanee's cargo. Some were almost ravenous, and hacked at sliced bacon and raw beef. They have been living on limes, coconuts and sweet potatoes. Ensign Gilpin, of the Sumner, accompanied the Cubans to their temporary camp inland.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Miss Lillie Evans is visiting relatives and friends at Campton.

Little Mary Pieratt is visiting her grandfather, S. S. Combs of Campton.

Hon. Banford White of Irvine was a guest of the Day House Tuesday night.

Prof. Cord and Ed Taulbee made a flying business visit to Lee City Tuesday.

Mrs. John Davis is on the sick list but we are not informed as to the nature of her ailment.

Hon. T. Y. Fitzpatrick, accompanied by "Coon" Womack of West Liberty, was a guest of the Day House Saturday night.

J. G. Trimble, who has been visiting relatives and friends here for a week or so, left Wednesday for his home at Mt. Sterling.

Elder Jim Tom Pieratt has gone to St. Helens to bring home his wife, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Grant Thomas of that place.

Roger Bryan, representing Pearson & Clark, Lexington, was here on Tuesday night, on his regular semi-monthly trip, and sold a bill to J. T. Day.

Miss Virgie James last week bought a fine milk cow for $35, and her curious friends are "just dying" to know what she intends to do with her purchase. Well, what?

Read the new ad, "Tonsorial Postoffice Parlor," and when you need barbering give our colored friend Charley a call. He especially solicits the custom of the commercial men touring this country.

Our lack of correspondence this week is doubtless due to the fact that most, if not all, our correspondents are engaged in farming, and are just now fighting weeds. Our readers will, we know, excuse them under the circumstances.

John M. Rose recently bought of Bob Anderson a very handsome high-stepping bay gelding, which Noah Taylor, the colored trainer, is driving for him. Mr. Rose expects to get a fancy price for his bay as soon as his driving qualities are developed.

Prof. G. Nelson Stevenson left Saturday morning for Lexington, which place he will make headquarters during the summer and preach at Ford, Spencer, Rothwell, and maybe one other point. But he will probably visit Hazel Green occasionally, notwithstanding. Likely.

Death of Col. James P. Rogers.

The many acquaintances of Col. Rogers, who some 15 years ago was a prosperous traveling salesman through this country, will read the following from the Sharpsburg World with both surprise and sorrow: "Thursday afternoon, at 5:30 o'clock, in his room in the Boyd building, Col. James P. Rogers, in the 72nd year of his age, passed peacefully away. He had been in ill health since December, but with the gentle spring breezes grew much better, and was able to walk about the town, when, on the 10th day of May, as he was returning to his room, he fell on the street, causing a mental stroke from which he never recovered. He has been confined to his bed for the past ten days, clearly unconscious of his condition and what happened around him. Mr. Rogers was born in Nicholas county and was a brother of S. G. Rogers of Carlisle and L. S. Rogers of this town. In his younger days he was a traveling salesman of some note, and it is said that by his popularity, genial manners, etc., he commanded the largest salary of any salesman of the country. Later, he spent most of his time in Cincinnati and Louisville. He came to this town in the spring of 1896. The remains of the deceased were taken to Millersburg this morning and interred in the cemetery there this afternoon."

Call at this office and get a sample copy of the Courier-Journal. And, under this offer, remember that you send the money to THE HERALD.

DEMOCRATS in the several precincts of the counties composing the Tenth Congressional district will today meet in convention to select delegates to the county convention to be held next Saturday, the 18th inst., to determine who shall go as delegates to the convention to be held at West Liberty on Thursday, June 23, to nominate a candidate for Congress. It is, therefore, the duty of Democrats to see that men go to both the county and the district conventions who will voice the sentiments of the people in the selection of a standard bearer, and for that reason they should exercise precaution in the precinct conventions. To insure harmony there should be no chicanery or Chinese trickery. The best men and only the best men should be chosen. At the final convention several good men will be placed in nomination, and the party can hardly make a mistake in choosing from so choice a list, but the voice of the people of the party and not the voice of politicians should control if the party expects to crown itself with victory. Hon. John E. Garner of Winchester, Hon. Thos. Y. Fitzpatrick of Floyd, Hon. D. D. Sublett of Magoffin, and Hon. O. H. Pollard of Breathitt, represent the list of available candidates and we doubt if four better men ever asked for the position. But defeat must come to three of the four, and it devolves upon the delegates whose duty it will be to select a standard bearer to so demean themselves toward those who are defeated that the party can next fall present a united front.

The hurry of putting our paper to press last week precluded the possibility of an extended notice of Hon. D. D. Sublett, and we desire to add that while a lawyer by profession, he has always been interested in farming as well. He is thus closely identified with all the interests of the farmer, and should he be nominated and elected he will work for the welfare of the masses.

HON. T. Y. FITZPATRICK,

The Demosthenes of Eastern Kentucky,
Makes an Eloquent and Patriotic
Speech at a Cuban Meeting.

At a recent Cuban meeting in Washington our congressman, Hon. Thomas Y. Fitzpatrick, was called upon to make a short speech on the question of "Spain," whereupon the gallant and gifted Kentuckian responded by hurling the following burning Philipics at the "Dons." He said:

"LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: For more than a thousand years cruelty, robbery and assassination have characterized the conduct of Spain. Even in the days of Caesar, Pompey and Anthony her record for treachery and blood brought down upon her undulating plain and rock-ribbed mountains the wrath of the Roman legions and swept her "Dons" and Dukes into oblivion.

"When Peter the Hermit and his crazy crusaders invaded Palestine ostensibly for the rescue of the tomb of Jesus from the grasp of the lustful Turk, but in reality for the robbery of the Jews and Mohamedans, the Spanish people with their pampered priests and devilish vagabonds who robbed and murdered in the name of an unknown god under the bloody banner of the Cross and Crown.

"For seven hundred years the Moors and Jews had lived, loved and prospered in the fertile valley of Andalusia and the sun-kissed summits of Grenada; but, at last, Spanish cupidity and cruelty arose with the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella and banished and murdered more than three millions of Jews and Moors, all in the name of Religion.

"Not satisfied with the banishment of Boabdil and his heroic mother, the Spanish stiletto, torch and rack continued their work of extermination. Torquemada, Pizarro, Cortes, the Duke of Alva and Velasquez were willing instruments in the iron hand of Spain to desolate and destroy every vestige of personal and religious liberty.

"From the public squares of Madrid, Cadiz and Barcelona, to the tropical vales of San Domingo, Havana and the Halls of the Montezumas, the lash, the torch and the garrote were the emblems of Spanish nationality.

"Even Columbus, the great and good discoverer of this, the Western Hemisphere, was imprisoned and chained by the very government whose golden flag he had flung to the breeze from the capes of Florida and San Domingo to the mouth of the Amazon.

An ingrate nation, destined to decay;
Dying daily and soon to pass away.
America shall humble all her power—
Great "Yankee" nation, ruler of the hour.

"Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippine Islands, like ripe apples from an ancient tree, shall fall into our luxurious lap, and all the colonial possessions of Spain are lost beyond recovery.

"The map of Europe shall be changed and the Latin race swept from power, leaving only the Teutonic, Saxon, Celtic and Russian races to rule the world.

"God moves in a mysterious way,
His wonders to perform;
He plants his footsteps in the sea
And rides upon the storm."

"The Stars and Stripes shall finally wave over every foot of North America, from Baffin's Bay to the Gulf of California, and from the ice-bound shores of Alaska to the Everglades of Florida and Puerto Rico. The congress of the United States shall rule supreme. Lords, Earls, Dukes, Kings, Queens and Emperors have seen their sunniest days, and their rotten realms hasten to decline. In the Providence of God, America, the sleeping giant of the West, awakes from the lethargy that has bound her to sordid and ignoble peace, and, like young David, the Prince of Progress, goes forth at last to humble and slay the Goliath of Monarchy.

"Our task is great; long and desperate shall be the struggle between manhood and monarchy, but just as sure as God reigns and Liberty lingers, self-government shall yet spread its benign way over the globe and as the rainbow hues of evening irradiate and span the circumscribed sky, so shall Columbia spread her flowing robes and envelop the world in her fond embrace.

"Patriotism never dies. From the rugged peaks of the Green Mountains to the lofty crags of the Cumberland, where the Kentucky, Big Sandy and Licking rivers rise in rippling rills, love of country is nurtured in the blood, bone and body of every true American, and from the granite hills of Ethan Allen and Admiral Dewey to the rock-ribbed mountains and bluegrass woods of Boone, Clay, Morgan and Lincoln—North, South, East and West—all can exclaim with my beloved commonwealth: "United we stand; divided we fall."

"Those who fight and die for truth, love and liberty are the heroes of all ages. This recent poem by a Kentuckian will exemplify the point:

Dewey, Paul Jones and Decatur,
Are niched in the Temple of Fame;
Their names shall illumine the ages
Like sparks from a volcanic flame.

Washington, Jackson and Lincoln,
Semmes, Farragut, Porter and Mead,
Live in the hearts of the people
Who honor each glorious deed.

Heroes of thought and of action,
Arising in giant like might,
Manhood emblazoned in glory,
Who fearlessly battle for right.

Crown them with laurels unfading,
And rear to their honor so high
Monuments, temples and towers
To pierce through the sun-kissing sky.

And through all the ages we'll cherish
The hero on land or on sea,
Who knows how to fight and to conquer
For those who deserve to be free.

An incendiary made what came near being a successful attempt to burn The Banner out on Wednesday night. The front door was unlocked and a portion of the contents of a full can of coal oil was poured on the floor. The fire burned a large hole in the floor and the extreme heat broke every window in the building. For want of sufficient draft the fire was smothered out. None of our printing material was injured.—Camp-ton Banner.
